

..Partnering for success

N250 Monday, February 17-23, 2025 www.openbusinessng.com Vol.1 No 1

International Breweries collaborate FRSC to champion safety on nigerian roads

L-R: Chairman Editorial Board, Daily Independent, Opeyemi Soyombo; Executive Director (Operations), Nigeria Deposit Insurance Corporation (NDIC), Mustapha M. Ibrahim; Managing Director/Editor-in-Chief, Daily Independent, Omanufeme Steve; MD/CEO NDIC, Bello Hassan; Executive Director (Corporate Services), Emily Osuji; Managing Editor Daily Independent, Kingsley Ighomwenghian; and Abuja Bureau Chief, Samuel Ogidan during formal presentation of Nomination Letter for the Daily Independent Regulatory Agency of the Year 2024 Award to Management of NDIC in

Heirs Insurance Group announces low-cost Motor Insurance plans

launch of its low-cost insurance prod-enforcement of motor insurance. uct—Flexi Comprehensive Motor Insurance. which provides comprehensive motor insurance benefits for a fraction of the cost.

Reaffirming its commitment to making insurance accessible to Nigerians, Heirs Insurance Group has also expanded the accessibility of its third-party insurance, making it available on the company's USSD injuries.

eirs Insurance Group, Nigeria's code—*1100# and its mobile app, Simple stest-growing insurance Life app. This will empower o

The Flexi Comprehensive Motor Insurance Plan blends affordability with robust benefits to protect customers from the steep costs associated with road accidents. The dent for the third party and the policyholder's vehicle, as well as medical bills, in the event of that fit their immediate needs."

Speaking on the new Flexi motor insurners to ance plan. Ifesinachi Okpagu, Chief Market-■ group, has announced the seamlessly align with the nationwide ing Officer, Heirs Insurance Group, said, "We have prioritised accessibility and affordability of our products to empower people to make the right choice. The Flexi Comprehensive Motor insurance offers much more for less. and the third-party motor insurance gives plan covers repair expenses in a motor acci- you the basics. No matter the decision, we want to empower people with the choices

Stakeholders laud of 4% FOB on imports, other achievements >>>P.7

Strong Q4 sets Fidelity Adeniyi for suspension Bank for outstanding earnings leap at full year >>>P.2

Let DISCOs die for Nigerians to have light

Polaris Bank, partners present essentials to Gbaja Girls Secondary Schools, Lagos economy. With these gains, gration, emphasising that he said, telecom firms must reducing reliance on the dolnow embrace backward inte- lar was in the mid to longgration by producing essen- term interest of telecom opertial components such as SIM ators. He was accompanied cards, cables, and towers by CEO, Airtel Nigeria, Mr. locally. This shift, he argued, Dinesh Balsingh; Group CFO, would not only ease dollar Mr. Jaideep Paul; and Direcdemand but also create jobs tor of Corporate Communica-

>>>P.2

Cardoso highlighted the CBN's broader vision of deep- commitment to deepening ening financial inclusion and financial inclusion in Nigeria enhancing digital payment through technology-driven solutions for everyday Nigeri-solutions and pledged continans. He announced plans for ued collaboration with regua high-level summit where lators to drive digitisation the Apex Bank will collabo- and economic growth. rate with key industry stake-

Backward Integration in Telecom Sector

Olayemi Cardoso, has cialservices. renewed calls for deeper backward integration in the tele- ensuring that financial sercommunications sector, vices reach more Nigerians, emphasising the need to especially in rural and localise key supply chains underserved communities. while expanding financial Through collaboration with services to benefit ordinary relevant agencies and indus-Nigerians.

Wednesday, February 12, driven financial ecosystem," 2025, during a courtesy visit Cardoso said. to CBN headquarters by Airtel Africa's management and other stakeholders that team, led by Group Chief Exec- the CBN would take the necutive Officer Mr. Sunil Taldar, essary steps to create an Cardoso emphasised the need enabling environment for to reduce the sector's reliance financial service providers, on foreign exchange.

has spent the past 16 months for Nigerians. stabilising the foreign Beyond industry reforms, Adeniran.

he Governor of the holders to develop strategies Central Bank of that promote accessible, effi-Nigeria (CBN), Mr. cient, and innovative finan-

"The CBN is committed to try players, we aim to build a Speaking in Abuja on more inclusive and digitally-

He also reassured Airtel fostering competition, inno-He noted that the CBN vation, and expanded access

In response, Airtel exchange market, strength- Africa's Group CEO, Mr. ening the Naira's competi- Sunil Taldar, commended the tiveness, and boosting inves- CBN's reforms and voiced tor confidence in the Nigerian support for backward inteand strengthen the economy. tions & CSR, Mr. Femi

Taldar reiterated Airtel's

>>>P.8

Polaris Bank, partners present essentials to Gbaja Girls Secondary Schools, Lagos

dents in the country.

birthed in 2021 and primar-training of the girl-child. ily focused on empowering Abuja. Amongst other million of them being girls. things, the initiative includes one of its strate- Corporate and Investment gic CSR partners, Banking, Mrs. Abimbola Evolve Trust Charity Ozomah emphasized that recently stormed Gbaja the Bank being a signatory Girls (Junior and Senior) to United Nations' (UN) High School, Surulere, Principles for Responsible Lagos in continuation of its Banking aligns its practices presentation of school and strategies with the UN's essentials programme to Sustainable Development selected public school stu- Goals and the Paris Climate Agreement thus igniting its The partnership which sustained interests in the

According to data from the girl-child and their male the United Nations Educacounterparts has reached tional, Scientific and Culover 15,000 students across tural Organisation 35 public schools in nine (UNESCO), there are about states including Lagos, 10.5 million out of school Kano, Kogi, Imo and FCT, children in Nigeria with six

"This event is not just empowering young learners about distributing educawith brain training tech-tional materials but empowniques and emotional intel- ering girls for bigger roles ligence education alongside because educated girls grow making and distributing into informed women. At user-sized school essentials Polaris Bank, we are com-(bags, uniforms, sandals, mitted to bridging the edubooks, and pens). The initia-cational gap, empowering tive also captures training of girls and building teachers in the respective sustainability aligning with schools, all sponsored by the global framework," she said.

The Executive Director Speaking at the presen-further charged the students tation on Wednesday, the to embrace the opportuniwhile stating that the Bank education, especially for the will stop at nothing to supportthem.

"Education is most powerful tool at your disposal and you have to utilize it to Programme Manager at from this laudable the maximum. Polaris Bank Evolve Charity Trust, Ejeh will not relent in supporting this laudable mission to empower girls who will drive the needed change to better our country and world. This intervention is in line with the Bank's ongoing sustainability efforts aimed at reducing out-of-school children population and girl-child and we urge you all to take full advantage," Ozomanoted.

Abimbola Ozomah, ED

Also speaking, Godwin thanked Polaris Bank for keying into the Trust's mission of supporting the girl-child nationwide. Godwin noted that are incredibly happy about while the initiative commenced in 2020, Polaris Bank partnered in 2021 and and Assistant Senior Girl of the Bank has never for once the school, Bankole backed out since then.

"I want to specially appreciate Polaris Bank for their tremendous support since 2021 that the partnership started. We couldn't have done this alone nor happy about this gesture come this far without their support. We've expanded our reach and hope to even bring more schools in other states on board this year, all thanks to Polaris Bank," Ejehsaid.

The Principal, Gbaja culture," Bankole said. Girls Junior High School, Polaris Bank for including CharityTrust.

olaris Bank and Bank's Executive Director, ties inherent in education increasing access to quality the school in the intervention programme.

"I want to specially thank Polaris Bank on behalf of staff and students for finding us worthy of benefitting programme. You can feel the energy in the hall that the students are happy and so are the staff. This has boosted our morale, and we it," the Principal enthused.

One of the beneficiaries Oreofeoluwa Emmanuella also thanked the Bank for symbolic gesture while promising to put the items into judicious use.

"My friends and I are from Polaris Bank, and we can't thank the Bank enough. These items will further ease our learning, and we promise to not only put them to judicious use, but imbibe good maintenance

Highlight of the event Mrs Dabiri Nwabuoku was presentation of the Adetoun Iyabo in her items to students by officials remarks also appreciated of Polaris Bank and Evolve

CBN Assures Public of Keystone Bank's Stability

ollowing the court order that the shares of Keystone Bank Limited previously held by the shareholders be forfeited to the Federal Government of Nigeria, the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) wishes to reassure the public that Keystone Bank Limited remains safe, sound, and fully operational.

We acknowledge that this development may have triggered customer concerns; however, we wish to underscore that the stability of the banking system and the safety of depositors' funds remain our top priorities. Keystone Bank's operations are entirely secure, and there is no reason for con-

For clarity, the Court Order merely reaffirmed the Central Bank of Nigeria's prior decision to take over the management of Keystone Bank Limited in January 2024, following a change in its leadership. Since then, the CBN has closely monitored the bank's operations to ensure they are in full compliance with regulatory standards. operational transparency, and the interests of deposi-

Strong Q4 sets Fidelity Bank for outstanding earnings leap at full year

earnings growth in 2024 is expected quarter, gross earnings had to be crowned by a strong already towered above the final quarter that will see the closing level in 2023 at bank through to the most outstanding operating N580.6 billion. This is results in 2024 the few corporate organisa-percent in 2023 to 98.6 pertions expected to double profit for the second year in 2024 after lifting the bottom line by 113 percent to N99.5 growth drivers have billion in 2023.

quarter operations last Sepexchange gains that pow-tember, after tax profit had ered the revenue growth multiplied close to two and engines of the bank in 2023. half times year-on-year to N224.6 billion.

financial report at the end of the third quarter shows that the elevated profit reading pivots on a combination of quarter, interest earnings speeding revenue and relatively slowing cost.

The favourable coststretched out margins, plac- ingsforthe period. ing Fidelity Bank among top rankers on the ability to conforeign exchange gains vert revenue into profit. The reversed to a drop of 64 perbank can be expected to centtoless than N9 billion at delity Bank Plc gin in many years from the exceptional 2024 operations.

At the end of the third N772.5 billion compared to another much accelerated The bank will be one of growth in earnings from 73 cent year-on-year at the end of the third quarter.

However, the revenue changed from net gains on By the end of the third financial assets and foreign Interest earnings can be expected to take a distant The bank's interim lead in the strong revenue growth that Fidelity Bank is expected to unveil for 2024.

At the end of the third advanced by over 117 percent year-on-year to roughly N706 billion, accounting for income combination 91.4 percent of gross earn-

On the other hand, net show the highest profit mar- the end of the third quarter Fidelity Bank's MD, Nneka Onyeali-Ikpe and half times the year before to N44 billion.

By Mike Uzor

However, net gains on financial instruments, which revived in the preceding financial year, are after multiplying sixteen 2024, net gains on financial instruments grew by over 82 percent year-on-year, already beating the closing figure of N25 billion for

The impact of accelerexpected to maintain the ated revenue growth is reinstronggrowth for the second forced by all-round slowyear. At almost N35 billion down in key costs. Leading at the end of September cost savings are interest expenses, which defied the income after the charges to industry trend to stay moderated for the second year.

end of the third quarter, cost quarter. of funds grew by 81 percent year-on-year, against the 117 bank's cost saving tripod is ings. The improved margin erated, lowering operating enabled a leap of over 141 cost margin from 32.2 perpercent in net interest cent in the same period in income-the most outstand- 2023 to 30.7 percent at the ing increase for Fidelity end of September 2024. Bank in many years.

impressive earnings story coming weeks. Net profit anticipated from the bank margin was up from 23.6 son.

Added to that is cost saving from credit loss charges, which reversed surge in 2023 to a cost saving slowdown in 2024. At a little over N48 billion at the close of the third quarter, credit loss expenses moderated at an increase of roughly one-half year-on- operations closed with earnyear after multiplying more than 12 times in 2023.

from loan loss charges again 2023. powered net interest an increase of 159.4 percent to stand in excess of N422 At N235 billion at the billion at the end of the third

The third leg of the percent rise in interest earn-operating cost, which mod-

Accelerated revenue The big gain in interest and moderated cost sum up margin can be expected to Fidelity Bank's earnings be the central plank of the story to be expected in the this earnings reporting sea- percent to 29 percent yearon-year at the end of the third quarter – the highest for the bank in many years.

The outcome of the from revenue consuming favourable cost-income balance is an enlarged bottom line, which rose by 145 percent year-on-year to N244.6 billion by the end of September 2024.

Third bank's quarter ings per share of N7.01, an increase from N2.86 per The further cost saving share in the same period in Monday February 17-23, 2025 www.openbusinessng.com

Raenest Secures $11M Series A Investment In QED-Led Funding Round

Global Multi-Currency Accounts Platform Expands Reach as it Simplifies Cross-Border Money Management for Africans

aenest, the global multicurrency accounts plat-form for individuals and businesses across Africa, today announced the completion of its $11M Series A funding. The round was led by QED Investors, with participation from Norrsken22, alongside follow-on investment from Ventures Platform, P1 Ventures, and Seedstars. This equity-based capital injection brings Raenest's total venture funding to $14.3M.

With this new funding, Raenest aims to deepen its operations in Nigeria, while also strengthening its Kenyan presence. The company also plans to enter the United States and Egypt this year, broadening its impact with Africans within the continent and outside the continent, and also attract top talent to support

L-R: Divisional Head,

Gbaja Junior Girls

Investment Banking,

PaceGate Limited, Raj

Totlani, Group Head,

Value Mngt; Bukola

Charity Trust, Mr.

Godwin Ejeh when

Oluvadi & GM, Evolve

Polaris Bank & Evolve

Charity Donated over

both Gbaja Junior and

Polaris Bank, Mrs. Abimbola Ozomah; ED its growth. Currently, Raenest holds licenses in Nigeria as an approved International Money Transfer Operator [IMTO] and in Canada as a Money Services Business [MSB] and is working to secure additional licenses in key jurisdictions. The company has established strategic partnerships with leading banks in the US and UK, to ensure operational stability and reliability, and plans to use the funding to form additional collaborations with financial institutions worldwide

Founded in 2022 by Victor Alade, Sodruldeen Mustapha, and Richard Oyome, Raenest initially operated as an Employer of Record (EOR) before evolving into a platform that redefines global banking for Africans, helping businesses and freelancers receive international payments, convert between currencies, operate a multi-currency wallet, while managing transactions seamlessly. The platform also enables customers to open global bank accounts in their names, access physical and virtual dollar cards, and manage payments in USD, EUR, and GBP. These tools offer the flexibility and reliability needed to navigate global markets. To date, the company has amassed over 700,000 individual customers, processed over $1 billion in payments, and serves over 300 businesses, including MoniePoint, Helium Health, Fez Delivery, and Matta.

Raenest also offers a consumerfocused product, Geegpay, which provides Africa's gig economy, particularly freelancers, creators, remote workers, and solopreneurs, with efficient solutions for receiving payments from Upwork, Fiverr, Gusto, as well as other overseas platforms and clients while minimising

Speaking on the announcement, Victor Alade, CEO of Raenest, said: "At Raenest, we are dedicated to addressing the barriers that hinder Africans from accessing seamless financial services. Our journey over the past two years has been shaped by innovation, collaboration, and a shared vision to build a sustainable, globally impactful business that bridges economic and digital divides. This funding, supported by new and existing investors who share our mission, provides the momentum to scale our solutions and expand our impact across the continent. We are excited to continue building solutions that connect Africa to the world and drive inclusive growth and prosperity.

Gbenga Ajayi, Partner and Head of Africa and the Middle East at QED Investors, added: "At QED, we're thrilled to support Raenest as they redefine cross-border banking for Africans. Their commitment to financial inclusion, combined with a seamless user experience, positions Raenest as a game-changer in the region's fintech landscape. We firmly believe that by bridging the gap between local and global markets, Raenest will unlock new opportunities for African entrepreneurs, freelancers and businesses, ultimately driving greater economic empowerment across the continent.

Nestlé Announces Dairy Demonstration Farm, Invests Over ? 1.8 Billion in Dairy Development

estlé Nigeria has launched a dairy demonstration farm in Paikon Kore, marking a significant milestone in the company's commitment to enhancing the local dairy industry through the Nestlé Nigeria Livestock Development Project (NLDP, inaugurated in 2021. The NLDP is structured around three pillars: Better Milk, Better Feed (fodder), and Resilient Communities. It is supported by the Federal Capital Territory Administration and delivered in collaboration with CBI Innovations Limited (CBiIL) and 2Scale.

Nestlé Dairy Demonstration Farm is designed to build on the success of the NLDP by serving as a practical model for implementing best dairy practices. It will showcase how to enhance the productivity of local cattle breeds from an average yield of 1 liter per cow per day to potentially over 10 liters through effective breeding programs. The farm also aims to showcase the practical application of best dairy practices to maintain herd health, nutrition, and hydration to transform local dairy and CEO of Nestle Nigeria said, tives established under the NLDP. Since 2019, Nestlé N invested over ?1.8 billion in onstration farm, Mr. Soji Apampa, improving the livelihoods of pastoralists in and around the Paikon Kore and Kachia grazing reserve. We are happy to report that the milk producers participating in this program have experienced a substantial increase in their household income which rose from ?70,000 in 2021 to ? 250.000 in 2024. This growth is attributed to increased productivity driven by improved dairy practices and provision of the enabling infrastructure within the commu-

Daily milk collection increased from an initial 200 liters in June 2021 to an average of 6,000 liters per day at the Milk Collection and Cooling Centre, aggregating over 1 million liters of raw milk to date. This success benefits approxi-At the launch event, Wassim mately 3,000 milk producers who Elhusseini, Managing Director are part of the 83 dairy coopera-

Also commenting on the dem CEO of CBI Innovations said, "We are excited about the opportunities ahead. Nestlé Demonstration Dairy Farm is not merely a project, it catalyzes the positive change we are dedicated to through sustainable farming practices that protect our environment, animal welfare, and the well-being of our communities. We envision a future where this dairy farm serves as a model of excellence and an inspiration for others in the industry. We will continue to innovate, learn, and grow, always maintaining an unwavering focus on quality, sustainability, and community."

In his address, the Honorable Minister of Livestock Development, Alhaji Idi Mukhtar Maiha said, "The establishment of this model dairy farm demonstrates Nestlé's unwavering commitment to contributing to the nation's backward integration goals and aligns with our national seamessiy agenda for livestock development. By introducing modern farming practices, supporting local dairy farmers, and ensuring the production of high-quality dairy products, this project will not only boost our domestic dairy supply but also reduce reliance on imports, thereby strengthening our economy. In view of this, the Federal Ministry of Livestock Development is fully committed to creating an enabling environment for investments like this to thrive."

y&Capital Markets Mon

Loan controversy: Onasanya appears in Court to clear name

...It's civil matter, loan fully paid, Otudeko's lawyers tell court

In a determined effort to prove his innocence and clear his name, Dr. Bisi Onasanya, the former Group Managing Director of First Bank, on Thursday appeared before Justice Chukwujekwu Aneke at the Federal High Court in Lagos.

Onasanya, alongside former First Bank Chairman Oba Otudeko; a Director at Honeywell Group, Soji Akintayo, and a firm, Anchorage Leisure Limited, is refuting allegations of fraud related to a commercial loan transaction at the bank during his time as the Group Managing Director.

Onasanya's appearance aligns with the commitment made by his lawyer, Adeyinka Olumide-Fusika (SAN), when the matter first came up in court on January 20, 2025.

MD/CEO, Nigeria

Deposit Insurance

formal Letter of Award from the

Managing

Independent.

Daily

Nomination of the Corporation (NDIC), Bello

Hassan receiving the Corporation as Daily Independent Regulatory

Agency of the Year 2024

Director/Editor-in-Chief,

Omanufeme Steve at the

NDIC Head Office, Abuja.

Another counsel for Onasanya, Olasupo Shashore (SAN), argued that although the former banker is determined to defend his innocence and clear his name, he aligns with the argument of Otudeko's lawyers that the court should first hear the preliminary application challenging its jurisdiction before proceeding with the case.

Chief Wole Olanipekun (SAN), who is the lead counsel for the 1st defendant (Otudeko), told the court the case is civil in nature because it concerns a bank-customer relationship and should not be treated as a criminal matter by the court.

Ade Adedeji (SAN), counsel to the 4th defendant, Anchorage Leisure Limited, supported Chief Olanipekun (SAN), stating that the Economic and Financial Crimes He said an application dated February 10, 2025 had been made, Olanipekun (SAN), stating that the Commission (EFCC) seemed determined to harass and intimidate his clients, despite the loan being fully repaid since 2017 and all parties having agreed to close the

"We filed a preliminary objection, but the EFCC has yet to reply. The loan, which is the subject of prosecution, has long been repaid since 2017, when the EFCC initially waded into the matter. There is clear evidence of repayment available. The continued pursuit of this case by the EFCC amounts to nothing but witch-hunting, intimidation, and harassment of the defendants. It is baffling why a matter that was resolved many years ago is suddenly being resurrected."

requesting the court to quash or decline jurisdiction over counts 1 to 10, alleging abuse of judicial process and a lack of prima facie evidence.

EFCC Prosecutor Rotimi Oyedepo (SAN) countered, stating that the allegations in the 13-count charge stemmed from a detailed investigation.

Following arguments from both parties, Justice Aneke adjourned the case to March 17, 2025, for ruling on the matter of jurisdiction.

Olumide-Fusika (SAN), counsel to Onasanya, urged the court to allow his client to return home and appear in court on the next adjourned date, stating that Onasanya had complied with the earlier assurance by presenting him self before the court as a mark of respect for the judicial process. Justice Aneke granted the request, permitting Onasanya to go home and return for the next hearing on the adjourned date.

It would be recalled that Olumide-Fusika (SAN), had, at the first sitting, condemned the manner in which the case had been handled, accusing the EFCC of subjecting his client to a 'media trial'.

Mr. Soji Akintayo,the third defendant, also appeared in court while the first defendant Oba Otudeko did not appear on health ground through the application and submission by his lawyer, Chief Wole Olanipekun who stated with support of an Affidavit how and when his client traveled to the United Kingdom for medical reasons through the Muritala Mohammed International Airports.

International Breweries partners FRSC to champion safety on Nigerian roads

In a landmark move to promote road safety and reduce road crashes in Nigeria, International Breweries Plc (IBPLC), through the intervention of the AB InBev Foundation has reinforced their commitment to safer roads by installing 35 cautionary road signages and donating 1,000 reflective jackets to the Fe eral Road Safety Commission

These interventions target key cities such as Lagos, Port Harcourt, Abuja, Ilesha, Onitsha, and Sagamu/Abeokuta which host some of country's busiest highways.

Speaking on the initiative, the Corporate Affairs & Regulatory Director, International Breweries PLC, Temitope Oguntokun, said: "As a socially responsible organisation, we are deeply committed to the safety of lives and property. By working closely with the FRSC, we aim to address critical road safety challenges and reduce preventable accidents across Nigeria's highways. This initiative is a testament to our dedication to sustainable development and the well-being of our soci-

Continuing, she said "the partnership demonstrates how collaborative efforts can significantly enhance road safety in the country. The reflective jackets and cautionary signages will go a long way in saving lives and improving compliance with road safety regulations."

Road crashes remain a critical challenge in Nigeria with the FRSC reporting a staggering 10,617 road traffic crashes in 2023 alone. Among the primary challenges and causes of these incidents are limited public awareness of the dangers of over speeding, drunk driving among others.

In response to this urgent concern, International Breweries PLC, in collaboration with the FRSC, has undertaken this robust initiative aimed at reducing road traffic accidents by at least 15 percent along key routes. Through the strategic placement of road cautionary signages and the provision of reflective jackets to enhance road visibility across highly motored locations in the country that are more prone to accidents including Abuja, the initiative underscores the importance of compliance with speed limit regulations and fostering a safer driving culture.

Receiving the donation, the Federal Road Safety Commission's Sector Commander, Lagos State Sector Command, Kehinde Hamzat, commended the efforts of International Breweries and the AB InBev Foundation.

Aside from the FRSC, International Breweries also partnered with the National Union of Road Transport Workers (NURTW), and drivers who regularly ply the busy roads. Olufemi Akanbi, a Lagos-based driver expressed appreciation to IBPLC and AB InBev Foundation for the initiative, maintaining that the signages are an important reminder of the fragility of life and the need to stay away from alcohol while driving.

According to the FRSC data, reported by the National Bureau of Statistics(NBS), 21,670 people were involved in accidents in 2020 alone with 885 fatalities compared to the 2024 data of 19,461 people involved in accidents with accompanying 693 fatalities. This drop is significant as IBPLC and FRSC continue to deepen safety initiatives while placing premium value on the lives of people.

This initiative is part of IBPLC and AB InBev's broader commitment to creating a positive impact in the communities where they operate. By championing road safety, International Breweries and the AB InBev Foundation aim to not only reduce accidents but also build awareness about the shared responsibility of ensuring safer roads for all.

al Market Mon

Monday February 17-23, 2025 www.openbusinessng.com

About US

Open Business is a pan-Nigerian newspaper with global reach which offers balanced and credible media content for excellence.

Vision

To be the veritable business voice through its vibrant daily online and weekly e-copy as-well-as hard copy platforms

Mission

Open Business shall be a reliable business mouthpiece committed to sound ethical practice in the sourcing and delivery of informed and useful news, comments, analyses and information to the public for decision making.

Open Business Comes Out Better!

pan-Nigerian newspaper and analysing critical sectors of the with global reach--- Open Business -- comes out this week repackaged to serve its target public better. Until today, the online newspaper has consistently offered balanced and credible media content to the readers in a professional manner. That informed the management's decision to gradually upgrade it's package with the addition of weekly ecopy and hard copy publications essentially to enrich the content. As a business and economy journalism platform, we shall be driven by authoritative, incisive business and political reporting .We shall beam searchlight on key areas of the private and public business community including federal, state and local government bureaucracies. Open Business is poised to be the alternative platform in reporting

Nigerian economy such as the Financial markets, Oil/Gas, Transport, ICT/Telecommunications, Political economy and the SMEs.

Our other editorial menu are Religion/Faith, Brands/Marketing, Tourism/Hospitality as well as Health/Living. Managed and run by experienced professionals in the industry, the newspaper promises to have a national spread and beyond with enhanced digital technology. It is already enjoying a growing reputation as a voice of business and newspaper of choice for decision makers.

The paper's reader-friendly layout and colour production shall remain appealing to Advertisers as well as the business and political elite. Our Marketing strategy is multi- level such that impact shall be felt in the right circles. Open Business as the name implies shall strive to promote good will, transparency and boost corporate governance in the public and private sectors of the economy.

We therefore provide a veritable platform for you to expose your commercial messages through online and hard copy advertisements. You are equally enjoined to partner us beyond advertising placement by branding and sponsoring our specialized pages in any of the sectors of the economy.

We welcome you to a new and exciting experience in business journalism. Your views and contributions to build a better society shall not be neglected. Keep a date with us every day and week as we prepare to partner you for success.

LG Electronics shines with 100+ awards at CES 2025, exciting new products for Nigeria

G Electronics has once again solidified its position as a global technology leader by securing over 100 prestigious awards and accolades at CES 2025. Recognized for groundbreaking innovations across multiple categories, LG's commitment to cutting-edge technology and consumerfocused solutions continues to earn widespread acclaim.

aging Director of LG Electronics Nigeria is amazing products nationwide, ensuring availleveraging CES 2025 to announce the introduction of new state-of-the-art LG products into the Nigerian market. This strategic move underscores LG's dedication to delivering top-tier technology tailored to the evolving needs of Nigerian consumers.

At CES 2025, LG Electronics showcased an impressive lineup of revolutionary products spanning across multiple categories, including media entertainment, home and B2B solutions from leading publications and tech experts. Highlighting LG's honors at CES 2025 were more than 100 CES Innovation Awards including three Best of Innovation Awards for the 83-inch LG OLED evo G5 TV (Video Displays), UltraGear Bendable Gaming Monitor 45GX990A (Gaming & eSports, Imaging) and Pet Care Zone (Pet Tech & Animal Welfare).

Speaking at a conference, Mr. Hyoung Sub Ji, Managing Director of LG Electronics

Nigeria, expressed enthusiasm about bringing these advanced products to the country. "LG's remarkable performance at CES 2025 highlights our drive for innovation and excellence. We are excited to introduce awardwinning technology to the Nigerian market, enhancing customer experiences with our latest state-of-the-art products.

'With a commitment to market expan-Amidst this global recognition, the Man-sion, LG Electronics Nigeria is set to roll out ability through its extensive distribution network and authorized retail partners. The company remains dedicated to enhancing customer satisfaction by providing superior technology, durability, and after-sales support," he said.

The newly introduced products include next-generation 4K OLED, QNED, UHD TVs, Soundbars, intelligent home appliances integrated with AI-driven features, advanced air conditioning solutions, and energy-efficient kitchen appliances. These innovations align with LG's vision of creating a smarter and more connected living environment for Nigerian consumers

LG's latest innovation in TV, the LG OLED evo G5 was honored by CNET Group with its "Best of CES" honor in the display category. As the official media partner of the Consumer Technology Association (CTA), the award is considered the official award pro-

LG Media Solutions' portfolio has earned a series of Best of CES 2025 awards in prolific tech-publications such as Tom's Guide, PCMag, The Verge and more. Highlights include: the MyView Touch&Move (32U889SA) earning Best of CES 2025 from TechRadar, recognized for its exceptional versatility and user experience. The LG StanbyME 2 was honored as the "Best sequel" by The Verge, celebrating its cutting-edge design and unique functionality. Mashable named the LG G5 OLED evo TV as one of the Best of CES 2025, praising its groundbreaking picture quality and immersive viewing experience. Additionally, USA Today included the

LG SIGNATURE OLED T in its 50 Top Picks

Developed in collaboration with multiplatinum musician and tech entrepreneur will.i.am, the LG xboom Grab speaker took home an Editor's Choice award in the Audio & Video Category of Techlicicious' CES 2025 lineup. Combining will.i.am's visionary approach to music with LG's leading audio expertise, the xboom Grab produces exceptional sound quality in a sleek, portable design. The "xboom by will i am" audio ucts deliver high-impact sound and bold aesthetics, making it a game-changer in the world of portable audio.

LG Home Solutions has garnered wide-spread recognition at CES 2025 for its innovative products, with several standout awards highlighting its cutting-edge designs and functionality. Mashable's CES 2025 Highlights: What We've Seen So Far accolade went to the LG AeroCatTower, celebrated for its sleek design and powerful air filtering capabilities. The LG Counter-Depth MAX Zero Clearance Refrigerator earned the TWICE CES Picks Award, lauded for its space-saving features and smart technology. 9to5Toys named the LG Indoor Gardening Appliance Best of CES 2025, acknowledging its advanced features the large gradening into the home with account. that bring gardening into the home with ease and efficiency. Additionally, both Apartment Therapy and The New York Times selected

2025 Valentine Celebration: Cornerstone Insurance Foundation, LFBI Distribute Food To Schools For Less Privileged Children

n the spirit of valentine, Cornerstone Insurance PLC Foundation, the corporate social responsibility arm of Cornerstone Insurance Plc, partnered with the Lagos Food Bank Initiative (LFBI) and distributed food to some schools of less privileged children in Lagos State in celebration of this year's Valen-

The distribution of food and other items to the needy and vulnerable children is part of the Company's way of giving back to the society.

The schools that benefitted from the food distribution are Divine Wisdom -Agege, Idera Oluwa – Agege and Debby and Frank – Agege.

Speaking to the journalists at the LFBI office at Ikeja, the General Manager, Cornerstone Insurance Plc, Mr. Charles Nwachukwu, reaffirmed Cornerstone Insurance's commitment to the welfare and wellbeing of the less privileged people in our society.

of the people of the communities where it operates

"We are proud to be part of this laudable initiative to give a sense of belonging to our school children especially the less privileged children at this valentine. There is no better time to do this than now.

"It is time to show love to the people of our immediate community through insurance. Our slogan is "Show Love With Insurance.'

Nwachukwusaid.

Plc as corporate entity, he said the Company is a one-stop insurance company that provides all kinds of insurance solutions that meet the needs of the insuring public.

He said in 2024, the Company gener-

Also speaking, the Head of Marketing and Corporate Communications at Cornerstone Insurance Plc, Cordelia Ekeocha, said since the inception of Cornerstone Insurance Foundation in 2013, the Foundation has been working with different organizations in impacting the lives of the people of the community.

"Since 2013, we have been working with different Non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and institutions in various "We need to affect our environment positively by showing love and giving to help those who are in need," Mr. said.

Responding, the Executive Director, Speaking on Cornerstone Insurance LFBI, Dr. Michael Sunbola, commended Cornerstone for their support even as he solicited for more in the future.

Lagos Food Bank, according to Dr. Michael, is a non-profit, nutrition-focused initiative committed to fighting hunger, reducing food waste and solving the prob-

He expressed the Company's readiness to work with LFBI to impact the lives about N4 billion was paid as claims. nutrition/food intake of pregnant women and their infants who are not able to get the required nutrient during pregnancy and breastfeeding of their babies

Cornerstone Insurance Plc Foundation (CIPLCF) serves as the corporate social responsibility (CSR) arm of Corner-stone Insurance Plc, focusing on initiatives that uplift communities and improve societal well-being. The foundation's efforts are primarily directed towards health, women empowerment and educa-

The Education Enhancement Intervention for Food Insecure Students (EDUFOOD) is a programme by the Lagos Food Bank Initiative (LFBI) aimed at improving the nutritional status and health of food-insecure students in lowcost private primary and secondary schools within underserved communities in Lagos State.

L-R: Mrs Grace Arinze (UNDP) Mr Kenneth Aror (NAICOM) Mrs Bukola Ifemade (UNDP Consultant) Comrade Ali Paul (Wuse Market Executive) Mr Richard Ojo (NCRIB) Mrs Toyin Akinoya (NIA) at Wuse Market Campaign

NAICOM Signs MoU With NEMSA To Enhance Electrical Safety, Insurance Compliance

m i s s i o n calinstallations. (NAICOM) and the Nigerian Electricity Manage-ment Services Agency (NEMSA) have entered into a historic partnership, and mitigate risks.

The emphasized the installation in large this emphasized the importance of synergy nership, describing it as a "landmark strategy" that will foster development through collaboration and into a historic partnership, and mitigate risks. signing a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on the MoU are to ensure syn-firmed NAICOM's comenforcement.

tion to electrical incidents.

mony held at the NAICOM cants are insured with objectives. Headquarters on Friday, licensed insurance compa-February 7, 2025, the Man-nies and risk mitigation marks a significant mileaging Director/CEO of and economic growth stone in the collaboration NEMSA, Engr. Aliyu T. ensuring that potential between NAICOM and Tahir, highlighted the risks are mitigated, invest- NEMSA, paving the way agency's mandate to ments protected as well as for enhanced electrical ■ enforce technical stan-promote economic safety and insurance comdards and regulations, con-growth.

The National duct inspections, testing, Insurance Com- and certification of electri- Insurance, Mr. Olusegun ergy and cooperation mitment to achieving This collaborative effort where both agencies will expected compliance. aims to establish a frame- work together to ensure work for mutual under- safety of lives and property; sioner for insurance Techstanding and cooperation ensures certification and nical, Dr. Usman Jankara, in achieving their regula- compliance where reassured the NEMSA deletory obligations, NEMSA will certify electri-gation of NAICOM's comprioritizing the safety of calinstallations in residen-mitment to the partnerlives and property in rela-tial, commercial, and ship, emphasizing the industrial premises, while importance of teamwork At the signing cere- ensuring that facility appli- in achieving their shared

The Commissioner for Ayo Omosehin, expressed He emphasized the his enthusiasm for the part-The key objectives of enforcement. He reaf-

The Deputy Commis-

The signing of the MoU pliance in Nigeria.

Linkage Assurance Introduces Budget-Friendly Third-Party Motor Insurance with Own Damage Cover

evolving needs of ?1,000,000 Nigerian motorists, tional third-party coverage.

The innovative policy, accident.

Unlike the conventional own vehicle," he explained. third-party motor insurance policy priced at Third Party Plus was devel-?15,000, which only covers oped in response to market third-party liabilities, the demand, ensuring that cus-Linkage Third Party Plus tomers who cannot afford provides extra benefits, comprehensive insurance including an Own damage are still protected against coverage starting from both third-party liabilities N500, 000 to ?1,000,000 and personal vehicle damdepending on the variant ages. chosen.

in four different plans to covering damages to others. accommodate various bud- However, to provide addi-Go - ?30,000 premium, hybrid plan, which has Own Damage Cover: received regulatory ?500,000; Third Party approval," he added. Plus: Star - ?50,000 prenum - ?70,000 premium, where.

In response to the Own Damage Cover:

Speaking on Arise TV, Linkage Assurance Plc has Dr. Imo Okorie Imo, Chief introduced an enhanced Strategy and Product Offithird-party motor insur- cer at Linkage Assurance ance package, Third Party Plc, emphasized the ratio-Plus, offering additional pro-nale behind the launch of tection beyond the tradi- the Third Party Plus Insurance product.

"Many Nigerian motordesigned to cater to budget- ists struggle to maintain conscious vehicle owners, comprehensive insurance combines the legally due to economic conrequired third-party insur-straints. We identified the ance with own damage pro-need for a more affordable tection, ensuring that poliplan that provides the mancyholders are not left datory third-party cover stranded in the event of an while also offering some level of protection for their

Dr. Imo noted that the

"By law, third-party The product is available insurance is compulsory, gets and protection levels: tional security for our cus-Third Party Plus: On-The-tomers, we introduced this

To enhance accessibility mium, Own Damage and ease of purchase, Link-Cover: ?750,000; Third age Assurance Plc has Party Plus: Diamond – launched a dedicated online ?60,000 premium, Own portal where customers can Damage Cover: ?850,000 seamlessly buy and manage and Third Party Plus: Plati- their policies from anyMonday February 17-23, 2025 www.openbusinessng.com

Stakeholders laud Adeniyi for suspension of 4% FOB on imports, other achievements

... as media urges FG on enhanced power, political support for Customs to deliver on mandate

takeholders in the maritime sector has landed the Comptroller General of Nigeria Customs Service (NCS), Adewale Adeniyi, for convincing the federal government to suspend the implementation of the 4% Free-on-Board (FOB) value on imports into the country.

Speaking at the ceremony for the presentation of "Iconic Maritime Personality of the Year Award 2024" to the CGC by Nigerian Maritime Journalists in Lagos on Thursday, a former National President of Association of Nigeria Licensed Customs Agents (ANLCA), Prince Olayiwola Shittu, said the suspension is a relief to importers and Customs agents.

He addressed Adeniyi the CG of Customs as well as the CG of licensed Customs agents and freight forwarders.

Shittu, who was the Chairman of the occasion noted that Adeniyi was instrumental to his success when he was the National President of ANLCA guiding him with

The renowned industry stakeholder congratulated the CGC for the well deserved award coming from maritime journalists, the watchdogs of the sector.

Also, the Chairman, Customs Consultative Council, Alhaji Hakeem Olanrewaju, eulogised

Comptroller General of Nigeria Customs Service (NCS), Adewale Adeniyi

the qualities of CGC Adeniyi and congratulated him for being celebrated by the maritime press with the award of 'Iconic Maritime Personality of the Year 2024.

He called the attention of Customs licensed agents to the fact that things have changed and enjoined his colleagues in the freight forwarding business to have attitudinal change.

The Vice President, ANLCA, Prince Olusegun Oduntan, commended the CGC for being a grassroots leader who listens to the people, an attitude that has brought a positive change. He promised that his association will continue to partner Nigeria Customs under the CGC leadership.

In his own speech, the National President, Africa Association of Professional Freight Forwarders and Logistics of Nigeria (APFFLON), Otunba Frank Ogunojemite, described the CGC as a downright good man and a natural leader. He stated that Adeniyi was his class captain in the university and later the President of the department. He added that he was a sports enthusiast who later became the leader of Man'o'War.

Describing him as extremely patriotic and very humble, he said that the CGC has been keeping his old friends without looking at his current status.

Speaking on behalf of the maritime journalists, Mr. Oke Ibeke, commended Adeniyi for his superlative performance which has changed the narrative in Cus-

He commended the CGC for delivering on his mandate in areas of revenue collection, antismuggling activities, trade facilitation and others.

Ibeke noted that this was the first time journalists from various media houses covering a sector would agree jointly to honour a chief executive officer of an agency. He pointed out that the unusual agreement was not for sycophancy but to give honour to aman who is a game changer.

He said that President Bola Tinubu must have seen in Adeniyi special qualities of an accomplished administrator before making him the CGC, adding that he has not disappointed the President for once.

Emphasising that Customs is key to the economic development of any nation, Ibeke called on the federal government to give the Service more power and political support to be able to deliver better on its mandate.

FAAN To Revolutionise Airport Operations Via AI

(FAAN) has disclosed its plan to explore AI and other technologies in the revolution of airport operations.

Managing Director and Chief Executive of FAAN, Mrs. Olubunmi Kuku, stated this at the 2025 International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO) Global Implementation Support Sym-posium (GISS), held in Abu TRAINAIR PLUS member Dhabi, UAE, from February 10 to

With full participation of the management team led by Kuku, this year's symposium themed, "The Next Flight: Innovating for a Sustainable Tomorrow," addressed the critical issues facing the aviation industry and served as a platform for global stakeholders to collaborate and share best practices.

FAAN's delegation engaged in discussions on key themes, including balancing aviation growth with sustainability, leverening implementation support for resource-constrained states.

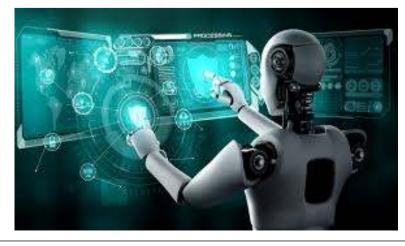

Additionally, the team attended sessions on transforming digital learning in aviation training and exploring evolving strategies for a more sustainable aviation future.

On Day Two of the symposium, Kuku received the also part of the delegation. plaque on behalf of FAAN. She nificant advancement in FAAN's he Federal Airports aging AI to enhance airport oper-Authority of Nigeria ations and training, and strength-TRAINAIR PLUS Manuals in the presence of the Director of Human Resources and Administration at FAAN, Dr. Emiola Luqman, > and the Acting General Manager of Training at FAAN, Mrs. Toyin Akinlade.The Director of Airport Operation at FAAN, Captain Abdullahi Mahmood, was commitment to excellence in aviation training and support.

This achievement marks

The GISS provides an invaluable opportunity for FAAN to connect with global leaders and gain insights into the latest advancements and challenges in the aviation sector.

"We are particularly interested in exploring the role of AI in revolutionising both airport operations and training and how FAAN can effectively integrate these technologies to enhance efficiency and sustainability at our airports," Kukusaid.

FAAN's participation in the ICAO GISS underscores its commitment to remaining at the forefront of aviation best practices and delivering world-class airport

According to the Director, Public Affairs & Consumer Protection, Mrs. Obiageli Orah, the knowledge and insights gained from this symposium will be instrumental in shaping FAAN's future strategies and initiatives.

Monday February 17-23, 2025 www.openbusinessng.com

Let the DISCOs die for Nigerians to have light

By Michael Owhoko, Ph.D

ne unending darkness permeating Nigeria today, unarguably, was the mistake of 2013 when majority stakes in the electricity distribution companies (DISCOs) were sold to private investors as part of larger efforts to improve electricity supply, which was hitherto, disrupted by constant powerfailure across the country.

Unfortunately, after 12 years of practical operations, these private investors have turned out to be technically incompetent with severe illiquidity challenges that weaken their capacity to perform, demonstrate competence, and deliver electricity satisfactorily to customers in line with policy and public expectations. Worse still, nothing suggestive that the DISCOs can improve in performance and efficiency, translating into a burden for Nigerians, in the absence of government's interference.

By their poor conduct and performance, the DISCOs have undermined the intention and objective of the Federal Government's electricity reforms which was aimed at strengthening the power sector through private sector participation for delivery of efficient and quality service. The reforms which started with the enactment of the Electric Power Sector Reform Act 2005 (EPSRA), led to formation of the Nigerian Electricity Regulatory Commission (NERC) and creation of the Power Holding Company of Nigeria (PHCN). The PHCN was later segmented into Generation, Transmission and Distribution, from where the DISCOs were created.

The reforms were essentially necessitated at the time by constant power failure induced by poor condition of network of power assets, including moribund facilities and equipment together with government's poor handling and management of the electricity sector. These challenges were identified as obstacles impeding efficient and regular supply of electricity to consumers, leading to eventual sale of six GENCOs and eleven DISCOs to private investors.

So far, the DISCOs have failed to inspire public confidence, as they often attribute their failure to inherited obsolete and unviable equipment, a defence mechanism evidently too weak to attract public sympathy. Inability of the DISCOs to identify from the outset, the depth of facility decay before agreeing to take up responsibility for the job, exposes the gaps in their technical knowhow. And failure to replace most of the moribund equipment and facilities, is a confirmation of their poor financial health, a factor that should have been activated for their disqualification.

Perhaps, as device to mitigate this financial deficit, DISCOs resort to sharp practices, using estimated billing, varied service bands, passing incidence of cost relating to faulty equipment replacement to consumers and unjustifiable blackout.

For example, consumers are fraudulently asked by DISCOs to pay for faulty distribution facilities and equipment, including wires, cables, conductors and transformers, despite leveraging government and banks. Even after compelling consumers to fund replacement of faulty equipment, ownership of such assets reverts to the DISCOs. Yet, no payment waiver or concession is extended to customers for electricity consumed.

Implicitly, consumers indirectly bear part of the DISCOs' operational cost despite payment for electricity bills. And because the consumers are caught up between the deep blue sea and the hard rock, the DISCOs have now made it a bureaucratic culture to make incessant demands to consumers for replacement of faulty lines and equipment, including transformers. Field electrical engineers of the DIS-COs capitalized on this unwholesome practice to constantly push cost of maintenance down the throat of consumers.

Minister of Power, Adebayo Adelabu

Besides, estimated billing has become part of DISCOs' trick for defraying cost of operations. Consumers are billed based on estimation as against prepaid metering, a preferred option to support their balance sheet. This explains why the process for obtaining prepaid meters is cumbersome and frustrating. Even where the prepaid meters are available, the DISCOs deliberately make the issuance process difficult, just to discourage consumers.

Categorization of consumers into different bands is also a strategy to shore up revenue, particularly in Band A. This category of consumers is allocated a minimum of 20 hours a day, but receive less supply quality, despite associated high tariff of about N2O7per kilowatt/hour (KWhr).

Consumers that are migrated to bands B, C, D and E also complain of inadequate supply that is not commensurate with their service bands. From approved minimum, Band B is entitled to 16 hours, Band C - 12 hours, Band D - 8 hours, and Band E - 4 hours per day, yet, blackout persists with supply at variance with approved service minimum in the different bands. It appears to be a ruse designed to fleece consumers

This inefficiency has so negatively robbed off on the DISCOs to the extent that their reputation and public trust have waned. It is so bad that, for example, pickup ladder trucks conveying field workers of DISCOs, now conjure image of crooked personnel going around to extort consumers over non-existent faults. The presence of these field engineers trigger apprehension among consumers over possible alteration of electricity balance. All these are in violation of regulatory operating standards as depicted in the Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) set by NERC. The KPIs are metrics designed to measure performance of the DISCOs.

When organizations entrusted with responsibilities to deliver electricity to final consumers have consistently failed to achieve target, resulting in poor quality of life and business downturn, with implications on gross domestic product (GDP), government has the obligation to mediate, and put the sector on a new trajectory to guarantee improved and regular supply of electricity.

This is where the NERC, which was established to oversee the activities of the DISCOs, is expected to act on behalf of government to compel them to operate within the framework of the established KPIs, through regular monitoring and enforcement of compliance. The KPIs include management accountability, increased operational performance, improved electricity delivery, customers' service satisfaction, metering, customers' complaints resolution, estimated billing and quality of service delivery.

But so far, the NERC has not lived up to its billings as evident by failure of the DISCOs to meet their KPIs, coupled with flagrant display of nonchalance, impunity and inexperience. Besides 5% reduction in operational expenditure as penalty for non-compliance with energy offtake, no serious sanctions have been slammed on the DISCOs, a gap they have been exploiting to perpetuate darkness in the country.

Put differently, apart from management accountability which is beyond consumers' determination, other KPIs are observed more in breach by DISCOs than in compliance. For example, there is no improved performance and increased power delivery to consumers. There is also poor metering system fueled by non-availability or indiscriminate issuance of meters, as well as estimated and delayed billing. Besides, consumers are also compelled to pay for equipment, including cables and transformers. These are part of growing customers' dissatisfaction over poor services by DISCOs.

While power generation companies (GENCOs) and Transmission Company of Nigeria (TCN) are not immune from the general inefficiency web of the power sector, if the approximately 5,000 megawatts (MW) of electricity currently generated was optimally and efficiently distributed by DISCOs, using functional and reliable equipment and facilities, the magnitude of blackout currently being experienced in Nigeria would have been slashed.

The spotlight on the DISCOs is informed by their crucial role in the electricity supply value chain. They deliver electricity directly to consumers which provide them the opportunity to interact with customers. The GENCOs and TCN do not interact directly with consumers, and this removes these organisations from public attention despite their importance in the supply value chain.

In other words, the DISCOs are the barometer the general public and consumers use in measuring the power sector performance. Regrettably, none of the DISCOs has shown excellence in their performance, including Abuja Electricity Distribution Plc, Eko Electricity Distribution Plc, Enugu Electricity Distribution Plc, Ikeja Electricity Distribution Plc, Istribution Plc, Istribution Plc, Jos Electricity Distribution Plc, Kaduna Electricity Distribution Plc, Kano Electricity Distribution Plc, Port Harcourt Electricity Distribution Plc and Yola Electricity Distribution Plc.

The DISCOs are today, part of major reason Nigeria is referred to as a "generator republic". Until the DISCOs are dissolved and replaced with technically competent investors who are ready to invest heavily in distribution equipment and facilities, homes and industries will continue to suffer from poor electricity supply, posing serious threat to government's planned provision of reliable and sustainable electricity. In other words, let the DISCOs die so that Nigerian can have light.

By Michael Owhoko, Ph.D

Dr. Mike Owhoko, Lagos-based public policy analyst, author, and journalist, can be reached at www.mikeowhoko.co m, and followed on X {formerly Twitter}@michaelowhoko

COMENT

OPENBUSINESS ...Partnering for success

Vol.1 No 1

www.openbusinessng.com

Monday, February 17-23, 2025

N250

Printed and Published by KEP Media and Communications
23, Akintonde Street, Magboro
Off Lagos/Ibadan Express Road.
The Executive Editor Kenneth Madueke
08033077520 (whatsapp)08059100364 (call)
Emails: Kenmadueke6@gmail.com, kenmadueke@yahoo.com

FACTS & FIGURES

N54.99trn

2025 budget estimate of Nigeria passed by the Senate

Economy: Is Nigeria stuck in progress illusion?

ByMarcelOkeke

frinvest West Africa Limited provided the above headline in its maiden 'Afrinvest Monthly Update' for 2025, as a rider to the main title of the publication. The headline suggests that there is an illusion about Nigeria's economic progress; and goes onto question whether the nation is now stuck in this illusion of making progress.

It therefore becomes necessary to probe whether Nigeria has actually been making any economic progress, specifically in the past close to two years under the current Bola Ahmed Tinubuled administration. This investigation is best done via an assessment of the state of a number of key economic indicators.

In May 2023, when President Tinubu was inaugurated, inflation rate stood at 22.40 per cent; it rose steadily to stand at 28.92 per cent in December, 2023. It continued the spiraling until July and August 2024 when the rate dropped marginally to 33.40 per cent and 32.15 per cent respectively. The rate resumed its surge, and closed 2024 at 34.82 percent.

In pursuit of the illusion of economic progress, however, the Federal Government seems bent on re-basing the measure of inflation—the Consumer Price Index (CPI). This, apparently, is to come up with an inflation figure that will give credence to a stable and growing economy. The National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) has, in the past couple of weeks, been working assiduously to realize the 'desired' result. We wait!

On its own part, the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN), since May 2023, has deployed everything in its armory of monetary policies to 'tame' the rampaging hyper-inflationary trend. Unfortunately, rather than depressing the inflation rate, the continued hike of the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) which the CBN adopted, has caused unintended collateral damage to the economy.

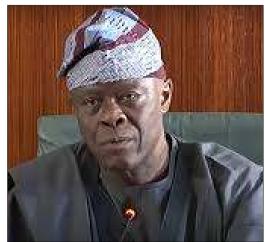

The benchmark or indicative interest rate—MPR—that was at 18 per cent by May 2023, has been hiked to 27.50 per cent by end-2024; a jump of almost ten per cent. One of the upshots of this has been the prevalence of outrageously high interest rates charged by the Deposit Money Banks (DMBs) for all their (credit) facilities.

These interest rates have been ranging between 30 and 35 per cent per annum: rates that have pushed bank credits beyond the reach of most businesses, especially the Micro, Small and Medium-scale Enterprises (MSMEs). The CBN has also gone ahead to hike the Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR) from about 30 per cent to 50 per cent during the same period.

CRR is the percentage of deposits that banks (DMBs) must keep with the CBN, rather than lending out to customers. Fifty per cent CRR means that for every 100 naira deposited into any DMB, the bank is required to hold 50 naira in reserve with the CBN, and can only lend out the remaining 50 naira to customers.

So, both the high MPR and CRR pose a very tight constraint on the credit creation capacity and other functions of the DMBs, especially in a weak economy. Although the CBN has deployed the hiked MPR in structuring such facilities as the Treasury Bills to attract massive patronage, the gains remain too short-lived and disruptive to the economy.

Specifically, the highly priced (handsome yields) Treasury Bills have been attracting some quantum of foreign portfolio investments (FPIs)—but this is 'hot money' that has no capacity to bring stability to the volatile macroeconomy. This market environment has also enabled the government (via debt instruments) to remain dominant in the capital/money market; thus, crowding out a good number of private sector participants.

Finance & Economy Minister, Wale Edun

It has therefore remained an illusion that the CBN has generated a huge foreign exchange (FX) inflow to strengthen and stabilize the naira. The 'hot money' generated through the FPIs have been leaving the Nigerian shores shortly after they come in. Their impact has been largely on paper, as captured in the Nigerian Exchange (NGX) periodic 'Capital Importation' reports.

The state of the naira exchange rate vis-à-vis the dollar and other hard currencies in the past 21 months is even more worrisome. From an official level of below N500/US$ in May 2023, the naira had crashed to a level of almost N2000/US$ before inching up to about N1500/US$ currently. The full floatation of the local currency mid-June 2023 practically rang the death knell for the Nigerian legal tender.

The policy of exchange rate determination by market forces (demand and supply) exposed the acute shortage of FX—leading to lingering excess demand over supply in the market. Although the CBN has tried so many initiatives to arrest the situation, the naira exchange rate has remained sticky at between N1700-N1500/USS.

Again, the battle (by the CBN) to strengthen the naira and stabilize the FX market is yet to be won. The minimal gains of the naira (though unstable) in recent weeks have remained shrouded in propaganda and self-adulation by the monetary authorities. For a currency exchange rate that dropped from N475/US$ to N1560/US$ in 20 months, any perceived progress (orgain) is certainly an illusion.

Another indicator (the price of fuel) presents even a more woeful and pathetic picture of illusionabout so-called economic progress of Nigeria in recent times. From below N200 per liter at end-May 2023, the price of Premium Motor Spirit (PMS) has shot up to over N1000 per liter. On May 29, 2023, President Tinubu announced the fuel subsidy removal, and PMS' price jumped instantaneously to about N700 per liter. This trajectory has been sustained.

The catastrophic impact of the subsidy withdrawal on the economic wellbeing of Nigerians is yet permeating all nooks and crannies of the country. Unprecedented level of high inflation; hunger and penury unleashed on the citizenry. Government's resort to dispensing of palliatives at all levels of the polity to assuage the pains has proved ineffective and unsustainable.

Institutions like the IMF and the World Bank have been alerting Nigeria on the number of its citizens that have been pushed into poverty trap by the impacts of Government policies. Food insecurity has become an existential threat to millions of Nigerians that have been pauperized by the fallouts of economic policies. Staple food has gone out of the reach of millions—pushing the Government to 'toy with' the idea of 'tax-free' importation of some food items. But almost one year on, this policy is yet to yield any results!

In handling the 'volcanic eruption' caused by the unplanned fuel subsidy withdrawal, the Government, rather than expediting action in improving local refining, had resorted to issuing licenses to many more people to be importing PMS and other refined products. This is such that Nigeria has continued to depend almost hundred percent on imported PMS for its local needs.

Efforts of private concerns like Dangote Refinery to improve the bad situation met with deadly intrigues, chicanery, and even sabotage by the officialdom. Today, although Dangote Refinery has recorded a pyrrhic victory, the refining industry has been made scary for other discerning investors. Numerous hidden obstacles and landmines are set up for existing and intending investors inspite of liberalization.

Even the much-publicized repair and restreaming of some Government-owned refineries are yet to improve the horrible PMS supply situation in the country. The pricing of the commodity has gotten linked to the vagaries of oil price movement in the international market, and as such, local players (like Dangote) remain perpetually exposed to external headwinds.

This is why recent celebrations of the return of the Port-Harcourt and Warri refineries were only but part of the economic 'progress illusion'. The issues (corruption) that saw the collapse of those national assets (refineries) over the years are yet to disappear. In point of fact, since the publicized repair, those refineries have remained in fits and starts Government remains yet undecided as to whether to privatize those refineries or to keep on sinking huge public funds, running into billions of dollars, into endless maintenance of the 'dead' refineries. Or, perhaps Government is only content with parading the repairs of those refineries as part of its 'illusory progress.' Whichever way, every gauge of the economy reveals the nadir of hope.

This has become most obvious in the Federation Account Allocation Committee (FAAC) monthly (national) income sharing by the three tiers of government. From some hundreds of billions of naira usually shared by the Federal Government and the sub-nationals every month in the past, the amount has ballooned to trillions of naira in recent times.

But this seeming 'bumper harvest' is a mere 'money illusion'—where the 'huge' sums doled out to the tiers of government are not worth much. Money, in Economics, is what money can buy. Therefore the thoroughly devalued and inflation-deflated naira being shared by FAAC has little value to tangibly improve the wellbeing of the people.

Itis illusion, all over!

The author, Okeke, a practicing Economist, Business Strategist, Sustainability expert and ex-Chief Economist of Zenith Bank Plc, lives in Lekki, Lagos. He can be reached via: obioraokeke2000@yaho o.com (08033075697) SMS only

NO IN ITO